2. Webinars

While in-person is always preferred, technology can provide a suitable bridge for trainings, staff engagement, and consultation which encourages good stewardship of financial resources and the environment.

Example: The Native American Catholic Community of Phoenix

The Problem: Training and certifying the volunteer catechists who serve 13 different missions on 5 reservations covering  $\frac{1}{3}$  of Arizona.

The Solution: Provide a systematic formation process and training for catechists in a central location on tribal land. Mixing in-person engagements and monthly 4 hour online sessions over the course of 1 year.

The Result: 40 Catechists trained and certified, along with the beauty of gathering to study and celebrate the faith, both in-person and remotely.

3. Staff & Leadership Development

Forming staff and faculty to know and understand their role in the mission is key to the success of any organization. By blending experience serving on small committees, boards, large international charities and complex university systems, staff and leadership development can be designed to meet the specific needs of your organization.

Example: Virtuous Leadership Retreat, Tepeyac Leadership Initiative

The Problem: Business men and women are called to renew the temporal order. In order to fulfill their mission, they need principled formation on virtue and an authentically Christian vision of leadership.

The Solution: Plan and execute an all day executive seminar on virtuous leadership for the inaugural class of the Tepeyac Institute.

The Result: Business executives learn the principles necessary to grow in humility and magnanimity. Their leadership and workplaces become meaningful places to renew the temporal order.

4. Strategic Planning & Product Development

The Catholic Church is unique. Its institutions, whether Diocese, Parishes or Universities require a blend of authentic evangelical zeal along with sound business practices and good stewardship. Consultation and support can range from turn-key project development, small capital campaigns, strategic planning, as well as hiring.

Example: Catholic Cemeteries 2018

The Problem: Catholic Cemeteries wanted to further engage parishes and partner with pastors to articulate the beauty of the Catholic Funeral rite.

The Solution: Convene a series of interviews with pastors, ministry heads, employees, and customers to learn the challenges and create effective tools of engagement. Develop a plan for evangelization and catechesis and formed a working committee of influences and stakeholders to review product materials.

The Result: Developed and filmed 4 short high quality catechetical videos. Created a beautiful bilingual K-6 curriculum for 113 parishes, 28 Catholic Schools and an engagement program for High Schools and Parish Youth Groups. Developed a position within the organization to continue to advance the mission of parish engagement.
